VOLUME EIGHTEEN — ST. CLOUD, OSCEOLA COUNTY, FLORIDA THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1927 — NUMBER THIRTY-SIX

ORGANIZATIONS PLAN MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

A joint committee meeting of the three service organizations in St. Cloud was held in the mayor's office Tuesday evening, April 26, the object of the assembly being to outline a Memorial Day program worthy of the day. St. Cloud has the second largest G. A. R. post in the world, one of the few Spanish War Veterans posts in Florida and a large active American Legion post. It is befitting that these organizations conduct the services in commemoration of their dead comrades and it is hoped that each and every citizen will participate.

The committee for the G. A. R. were Comrades Goff, Holden and Kenney; the Spanish War Veterans, Albertson and Stevens; for the American Legion, Byrnes, Trickle and Becker. Comrade Byrnes was appointed to the chair and Comrade Becker made acting secretary.

It was moved by Comrade Gaff, seconded by Comrade Kenney that Mr. Carl Lehman, secretary of the Orange county chamber of commerce, be invited as principal speaker of the day; an invitation extended to the W. R. C., Daughters of Veterans, Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion, Masons, Odd Fellows, and chamber of commerce and any and all patriotic, civic or fraternal organization in St. Cloud to appoint a committee to meet with the present committee at its next meeting. Any Confederate Veterans in or about St. Cloud are extended a special invitation to join with us on this occasion.

A motion by Comrade Kenney seconded by Comrade Holden that the Daughters of Union Veterans be asked to arrange for the musical part of the program and the W. R. C. to look after the flowers as has been the custom in the past.

Moved by Comrade Kenney, seconded by Comrade Holden that the temporary chairman and secretary be made permanent and that the next meeting be held next Tuesday, May 3rd, at 8 p. m., in the office of Comrade Parker on Tenth street, between Florida and Pennsylvania avenues.

Moved by Comrade Trickle, seconded by Comrade Stevens that the Legion post in Kissimmee be extended an invitation to join with us in our Memorial Day Program.

FORMER ST. CLOUD BOY IS MAKING GOOD

Word has been received that Geo. W. Carter, of Denver, Colorado, who was formerly with the St. Cloud Tribune, has accepted a position on the advertising staff of the Rocky Mountain News and The Denver Evening News. These papers belong to the Scripps Howard organization which is one of the largest in the United States.

VETERANS ASSOCIATION

In absence of the president and vice-president the meeting of the Veterans' Association was called to order by the secretary.

The meeting was opened by singing "America" and prayer by E. M. Bennett. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. All joined in singing the Florida song and giving the St. Cloud yell. The collection was taken.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Slater and the program was to be given by the Daughters of Union Veterans, but, owing to so many being in attendance at the encampment at Miami, it was thought best to have a volunteer program, which follows:

Recitation, Deabel Smith.
Telegram from Mrs. N. W. Balcom.
Music, banjo, by Comrade Worrill.
Song, "All In All" by Prof. Allen.
"Opening of Indian Lands In Oklahoma" by Z. Barrager.
Song by choir, "Old Black Joe."
Reading, "A Peculiar Man," by Mrs. Benedict.
Reading, "The Other Fellow's Job," by Mrs. Penn.
Music: Mr. Worrill, banjo, and Mr. Beauchamp, bones.

John T. Roach, in a few well chosen remarks, told why he had come to St. Cloud to stay.

The social hour at the next meeting will be in charge of the D. U. V., with Mrs. Slater as leader.

Josephine Perkins, Sec'y.

CURWOOD'S "FLAMING FOREST" PALM MONDAY AND TUESDAY

"Poker Faces" Tonight and Friday. A Roaring Comedy In Six Reels

Another one of those famous stories of the great Northwest by James Oliver Curwood, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, will be shown at the Palm Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Tonight and tomorrow the Palm will show "Poker Faces," with Edward Everett Horton and Laura La Plante. This is a story of a nice young man who had two wives but didn't dare lay claim to either of them. If you have the blues and need a good laugh, see this roaring comedy in six reels and forget your troubles.

Mrs. Hiram Lewis, of Elkhurst, W. Va., who has been spending the winter here, will return home next month.

REV. CAMPBELL FAVORABLY IMPRESSED WITH ST. CLOUD

The chamber of commerce luncheon and business meeting at noon Wednesday was presided over by Mrs. M. Puckett-Foster, vice president. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blackman and assistants furnished a most excellent lunch which was greatly enjoyed.

Dr. F. R. Seymour introduced Rev. Howard Campbell of Olympia, Fla., who supplied the Presbyterian pulpit last Sunday and is spending the week with friends in the city. Rev. Campbell is most favorably impressed with this part of the state, which is new to him. "In fact," he said, "Florida is Florida from tip to tip and from shore to shore, and its people are its main attraction, which is largely responsible for the substantial development now under way all over the state." He was surprised to find St. Cloud, which is only in its infancy, so far advanced. For its age it has shown a great deal of vigor, which bespeaks for St. Cloud a splendid future.

R. L. Steen, who is chairman of the disaster committee of the Red Cross, reported the St. Cloud quota had been more than doubled. The quota was $150 for St. Cloud chapter, and the total amount received at that time was $329.14. The largest contributor to this fund was the Christian church, which gave $92.50. Mr. Steen stated that he wished to take this means of thanking the people of St. Cloud for the most liberal response to the distress call. But a liberal response is St. Cloud's way of doing things.

E. R. Beeler announced that the American Legion was sponsoring a Memorial Day celebration to be given on May 30 here in St. Cloud. He requested that the chamber of commerce and all other civic bodies assist in making this one of the most memorable of days. He also requested that all such organizations attend a meeting to be held next Tuesday night at the office of Mayor Parker for the purpose of completing arrangements.

President Landiss, upon his arrival, made a report with reference to the contract made with Ed McConnell and the chamber of commerce some months ago, to broadcast for St. Cloud during a trip through the north and middle west, for which he was given an advance payment by the chamber. Mr. McConnell was not able to make the trip, being detained in Jacksonville on account of a law suit in which he secured a judgment, but so far has not been able to obtain a payment to enable him to remit to the chamber of commerce the amount received. He submitted a proposition to make weekly payments on the same until such time as he could liquidate the bill, to which the chairman and the secretary agreed, and such payments have been paid regularly.

An invitation was received from the American Legion at Melbourne inviting St. Cloud to attend the Fourth of July celebration at Melbourne and Indialantic beach. At this time Governor Martin, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, and Congressman W. J. Sears are to be among those on the program. Water sports and a mammoth parade and fire works display will also be features of the occasion. No definite action will be taken on the Melbourne invitation until the next meeting.

May Day Program at City Park Friday by Grade School Children

The annual May Day program given by the grade pupils of the St. Cloud school near the close of the school year, will take place on Friday afternoon, April 29th, at 5:00 o'clock at the city park.

The entertainment this year will open with the operetta, "Midsummer's Day," a spectacular presentation of songs, drills, etc., with elaborate costumes. This operetta will be followed with the crowning of the May Queen, and the May Pole dance, the latter to be given by the children of the kindergarten department.

At the close of the afternoon's program a supper will be served in the club house by the ladies of the Parent-Teacher Association and the funds derived from the supper will be used to pay off the debit on the play-ground apparatus.

The program is being given at 5:00 o'clock so that it will be over with in time for the supper.

There will be no charge for the entertainment, which will be given at the band shell. Seating arrangements are being made to take care of a large crowd, and those in charge of the program as well as the children taking part, have been working very hard to make it a success.

All who are interested in our schools should be present at this entertainment, which is sure to be an enjoyable one, and also plan to enjoy the supper which follows.

BUFFALO, N. Y. MAN LOCATES IN ST. CLOUD

P. S. Washburn of Buffalo, N. Y., son of former Street Commissioner N. H. Washburn, has decided to make St. Cloud his permanent home. During the past week Mr. Washburn bought the beautiful home of W. H. Crum on North Kentucky Avenue. This is one of the most artistic houses built during the past year and was sold completely furnished. We are pleased to note that this is one of several good homes which has changed hands recently, also are glad to welcome Mr. Washburn and family among us.

ARCHERY TOURNAMENT

The Orlando and St. Cloud archery teams will meet in tourney at the municipal butts directly north of the city park at 2:30, Saturday afternoon. This is to be the last shoot for the Correll cup, donated by the Correll Jewelry Co., of Orlando. Both teams have won this cup twice; and this will be the decisive match. If we can outshoot the visitors this time, we will have a beautiful trophy to display in the windows of the Chamber of Commerce. Of course, this is counting the chickens, but we have a good chance to win. Come out and see this meet. It will be a warm session.

St. Cloud club has the assurance of the Orlando and St. Petersburg archers that St. Cloud will have their support for the location of the headquarters of the State Association here the first year. This organization is not yet in being but lots of hard work is being done by archers all over the state to form one. This will mean a state tournament at least yearly, and we may have the first one.

MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly meeting of the Michigan Association will be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 4th, in the club house at the city park. As this will be the last meeting for the current year, a good attendance is hoped for so that we may make plans for the summer.

Francis R. Riley, Secretary.

FREE ORGAN RECITALS AT ORLANDO SUNDAYS

Orlando is to have a series of free organ recitals at the new municipal auditorium at the fair grounds each Sunday afternoon throughout the summer months. The first recital was given last Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Out of town visitors are cordially invited.

PROPERTY IN AND NEAR ST. CLOUD CHANGES HANDS

The Johnston-Reuhlen Realty Co. report the following land transfers the past week:

10 acres of farm land with small grove in the Narcoossee section from Isaac G. Eckley to Robert Donegan.

Small farm on the Hickory Tree road from Fred L. Vaughn to James L. Turley.

Tract of citrus land, from Foster Newton to Walter Ide.

200 acres of land south of St. Cloud, from Jno. J. Johnston to O. N. Campbell.

The above sales were closed through the office of Johnston and Ruehlen during the month of April to date.

NAMES TO BE POSTED

Announcement, made last week in an advertisement in the Tribune, that the names of those who did not sign up for accepting certificates of deposit in the Peoples Bank of St. Cloud would be posted at the bank today, brought in a number of depositors who signed, but there a few, about seven per cent, who have not yet been reached.

It is hoped by the depositors' committee that the other depositors can be reached this week, which will enable the bank to reopen at an early date.

If you have not signed up to accept a certificate of deposit, do so at once, so that the plans may be carried out.

Yazoo Herald—The scientists who estimated that the coal supply would last for 200 years did not take into account that strikers will make it last twice as long.

CALLANS ARRIVE SAFELY AT CELINA, TEXAS

Rev. J. A. Callan, former pastor of the Presbyterian church, writes the Tribune as follows, in regard to his trip to his new charge in Celina, Texas:

"Mrs. Callan and I made a most pleasant trip via Vicksburg and encountered no high water or mud the entire distance of about 1400 miles. The Mississippi was said to be about its highest but we navigated it in about forty minutes and from there to Monroe, La., we were below the level of the high waters but on a good graded; drove all the afternoon.

"At Monroe the Ouachita (Washitaw) river was running almost level full but there seemed to be little or no excitement about the floods. Flood and storm conditions have existed for weeks all the way from Vicksburg to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Our goods have been not arrived but are expected soon as we have heard from them on the way. I am writing this note in the home of one of the elders of the Celina church, where we have been most cordially received."

ST. CLOUD MORE THAN DOUBLES QUOTA FOR RELIEF OF FLOOD SUFFERERS

St. Cloud again exemplifies the fact that she does nothing by halves. When the telegram was received from the American Red Cross, telling of the needs for the flood region, and fixing St. Cloud's quota at $150, announcements were made in the churches Sunday; and early Monday morning, R. L. Steen, who is chairman of the disaster committee, Mrs. Helen Ellis, chairman of the local chapter, and Miss Bertie Lee Hunter, local Red Cross nurse, were on the job early, and all have worked faithfully. Reports show that the amount of our quota has been more than doubled. A check for the amount of $329.14 has been forwarded to headquarters. A telegram was also sent with a request for directions for sending clothing and other contributions.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET DATE CHANGED

The Junior class of the St. Cloud high school announces that the date of the Junior-Senior banquet has been changed from Friday, April 29 to Thursday, April 28.

This banquet, which is an annual event, will be held at the chamber of commerce rooms. The senior class that is being entertained is the largest in the history of the St. Cloud high school.

DR. WM. LANDISS WILL OCCUPY PRESBYTERIAN PULPIT

Arrangements have been made with Dr. Wm. Landiss to preach at the Presbyterian church at both the morning and evening services on next Sunday, May 1st.

R. S. THOMPSON TAKING VACATION

R. S. Thompson, who has been with the Tribune for some months, is taking an extended vacation, but will remain in the St. Cloud neighborhood for some week's visiting his land holdings and enjoying the Florida climate.

COUNTY DIVISION TO BE SUBMITTED TO VOTERS

Whatever county division is proposed from the St. Cloud section here, will be submitted to a vote of the property owners of this part of the county.

The Kissimmee Gazette and the Kissimmee Post have printed stories about proposed divisions, but they seem to be at fault, so the Tribune gives this information this week.

St. Cloud folks propose to cut off at the Sugar Belt canal, which is now a dividing line for both school, road and bridge districts, and also the present commissioners' districts as this will cause no undue delay in division of the county. A referendum vote on the question should settle the matter. We are not jealous of the old county. Why should they object to a vote being taken?

PROFESSOR BAILEY PLAYS ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS

Prof. Kenneth M. Bailey, violin instructor of the Susquehenna University in Selinsgrove, Pa., rendered two of his own original compositions at the annual concert recently in Seibert Chapel Hall, Selinsgrove, Pa.

The violin solos, by the head of the violin department in the university's conservatory of music, were negro spiritual interpretations of plantation sketches.

"The Slave Chant" depicted the mournful conversation of two slaves at work in the field.

"The Cabin Chant" was the presentation of an evening scene of the elderly head of the family in sad contemplation after a day of toil as the children were put to bed. The merriment of the youngsters later added charm of the realistic scene.

This was the first public presentation of these numbers which were played by the composer.

Prof. Bailey attended high school here eight years ago. While on a visit here four years ago, he rendered several selections in the M. E. church during the Christmas cantata. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bailey of Alliance, O., who spend much of their time in St. Cloud, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pickens on Kentucky avenue.

Looking Toward East Lake Tohopekaliga

BEAUTIFUL FLORIDA AVENUE

Florida avenue, one of the streets recently paved with concrete, is one of the city's most beautiful streets. Plans are under way for the beautification of the parkways with ornamental shrubbery, after the whiteway lighting system has been installed, which will make this one of the most attractive drives in this section.

St. Cloud has just completed over six miles of concrete paving and the contract has been let for several miles additional concrete paving work on which will start in the near future.

BENJAMIN F. DYSON IS NAMED HEAD OF MASONS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 22.—Benjamin F. Dyson of Jacksonville, United States Marshal for the Southern district of Florida, was yesterday morning elected to the high Masonic office of most worshipful grand master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Florida. The communication in the morning at which the officers were elected, and the afternoon session at which the installation was held, brought the Ninety-eighth annual communication of the grand lodge to its close after a session of three days. The installation was conducted by Lamar T. Carter of Gainesville, past grand master.

In the absence of the grand orator, Dr. A. A. Murphree of Gainesville, president of the University of Florida, the oration was delivered in the morning by Augustus E. Barnett of Sarasota. Resolutions were introduced and adopted and sent to the grand secretary, Wilbur Page Webster, of this city, the resolutions being on the death of Secretary Webster's brother, Irving E. Webster, who died the night previous at his home in Gainesville. ## WOMAN'S IMPROVEMENT CLUB

The Woman's Improvement Club met April 20 at the library building with the usual officers. Many items of interest were discussed and reports from the different committees were read.

The following resolution on the death of Mrs. Lue Hendrix was read:

"Realizing that into the life of every one there comes a time when we must part forever from near and dear friends, we wish to express our regret and sincere sympathy in the passing of our valued member and sister, Mrs. Lue S. Hendrix, who has since pioneer days been actively associated with our club work. Always loyal to her friends, loyal to the truth, unceasing in her efforts to help others, progressive and earnest in thought and action, she will ever be remembered by us with deep appreciation for her part in the development of the Woman's Improvement Club of St. Cloud."

Although there were only a few present at the meeting, we enjoyed the program given by Mrs. Lucy Blackburn, reviewing Irving Bacheller's book, "Darrel of the Blessed Isles."

Mrs. Mary C. Bedford and Comrade G. L. Walker left Tuesday for their northern home in Bristol, Indiana. This was their sixteenth winter in St. Cloud and one of the most pleasant.

RED CROSS MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Cloud chapter of the American Red Cross was held in the chamber of commerce room Thursday evening, April 14, with the largest attendance of the year.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. Hyndman, followed by a roll call of officers and general business. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Mrs. John Somerville was elected to fill the vacancy.

An appropriation of $500 was received from the county, also the ten per cent dividend from the Bank of St. Cloud was received, making it possible for the chapter to pay Miss Hunter, school nurse, to the 15th of April, and all outstanding bills to date.

The matter of organizing swimming classes among the boys and girls in this part of the county was discussed, and it was decided to start this work immediately. Miss Hunter was advised to obtain the necessary literature. Miss Clark and Coach J. G. Hollis, instructors in the high school, have consented to take charge of the girl's and boy's classes respectively. There are to be contests between swimmers, in this and other counties, in the near future; thus affording keen interest among the classes in the work.

Miss Hellman, nursing field representative, was here for inspection of the work being done in the schools and homes since her visit last summer. After going over the work this time, she pronounced every thing most satisfactory, and was delighted with the reports given.

Miss Hellman read a program which contains an outline of the work to be done by this chapter and the school nurse. This was adopted. In checking the program over, it was found that Miss Hunter had been following this program during the past year.

J. L. ST. PETER

Word has been received of the death of J. L. St. Peter at Parrsburg, Va., just four days after arriving home from St. Cloud. Although Mr. St. Peter was very ill during his stay here, and had to be helped aboard the train when he left, yet no one realized the end was so near. During the stay of Mr. and Mrs. St. Peter in St. Cloud, they made many friends who will be shocked to learn of his sudden going.

FLORIDA'S GROWTH SHOWN BY REPORT OF STATE FNIANCES

JACKSONVILLE, April 24.—"Is it true that Florida has a surplus in its treasury, and that there has been an actual reduction in taxation totals during the last few years?"

This question in various forms has come to the State Chamber of Commerce, not only from hundreds of firms and individuals in the north, but from many business men in Florida.

The State Chamber points in its reply to a treasury surplus and that very properly there has been no reduction in taxation totals. The State Chamber's answer to these inquiries is as follows:

"Persistent allusions to Florida's so-called treasury surplus would seem to call for persistent correction. Governor John W. Martin has upon a number of occasions pointed out that the treasury balance, announced from month to month, is not a surplus over and above state governmental needs. The amazing fact in this connection is that Florida without any bonded debt maintains a treasury balance, being practically the only state in the union that pays as it goes.

"Much misapprehension exists concerning taxation totals. Florida taxes are relatively low as compared with taxes levied in other states. But taken as a whole, the totals have increased constantly during the last five years, and properly so. This increase has been in keeping with mounting population totals, and has been an inevitable result of the state's development.

"The state's assessed valuation in 1923 was $445,005,570 and was a 11½ mill tax yielded approximately $5,118,000.

"The assessed valuation in 1924 was $475,197,394, and a 10% mill tax yielded approximately $5,108,000.

"The assessed valuation in 1925 was $620,962928, and a 10½ mill tax yielded approximately $6,519,000.

"The assessed valuation in 1926 was $786,004,528, and a 7½ mill tax yielded approximately $5,895,000.

"The millage levies, however, are only one source of the state's income, the gasoline tax and the automobile license tax being the major sources, in addition to the millage levies, from which the state monies are obtained.

"The state's income for the year 1923 was $14,983,633; in 1924 $19,114,951.

"In 1925 a change was made in calendar year from fiscal year. The income of the state for the first six months of 1925 was $13,017,414, while the income for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1925, and ended June 30 1926, was $40,715,521. The income from July 1, 1926 to December 31, 1926, was $12,716,328.

"The increase in gasoline tax receipts illustrates the extent to which any decrease in the millage levy has been offset by taxes secured from other sources. Gasoline tax receipts in 1923 were $1,041,000; in 1924, $3,671,000, while the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1925 and ended June 30, 1926, showed receipts in excess of $10,000,000. Receipts during the last six months of 1926 were $5,315,000.

"Receipts from automobile license tax showed a proportionate increase. In 1923 the automobile license tax receipts were $1,967,000; in 1924, $2,418,000. The receipts during the first six months of 1925 were $2,191,000, while during the year beginning July 1, 1925, and ended June 30, 1926, they were $4,680,000.

"The tax paying public as a whole therefore has not enjoyed the benefits of tax reduction. Taxes are, however, paid by more people than there were in 1923. Florida's population in 1920 was 968,470. Its present population being approximately 1,400,000. Not only are there more people who are paying taxes now than there were a few years ago, but values have increased anomally, business turnover has increased, production has increased and the responsibilities of municipal, county and state governments have increased.

"Progress entails its definite responsibilities. Florida is getting ahead. To chronicle as a fact that Florida is reducing tax totals tends to create an unfavorable impression, because such reductions are associated in the public mind with depression and reaction. Indeed, there exists an actual need for increased revenue. Florida has been thrifty in its expenditures and increased revenues would serve to underwrite and stabilize present investments by making possible large appropriations to the state's educational institutions, and appropriations sufficient to establish a state forestry bureau in a modest way. These and other expenditures the State Chamber of Commerce believes would be amply justified because of the values they would create. The part of wisdom we believe lies in providing liberal revenues, while insisting upon economy in expenditure. Florida's record for economy is unquestioned by any other state in the union."

1,200 junior prohibition agents at $1,800 a year.

103 warehouse watchmen at $1,140 to $1,800 a year.

74 attorneys at $1,800 to $5,200 a year.

The civil service commission states that the examinations will be practical, each kind specially designed to test the qualifications and fitness of the applicants to perform the particular branch of the work for which that kind of examination is held.

The examinations for investigators below the senior grade, those for agents of all grades, and those for warehouse watchmen will require the assembling of competitors in examination rooms for written mental tests. These will be given in approximately 600 cities throughout the country. The other examinations listed do not include written mental tests in examination rooms.

All of the examinations will include ratings on training and experience, a searching oral test, and a rigid character investigation made by the civil service commission with the assistance of other government agencies.

In order to give the oral tests it will be necessary for the commission to send investigators to interview applicants in various parts of the country. The character investigations will be made with the most painstaking care. Because of these two features of the examinations, the testing of applicants for the 2500 newly-classified positions under the bureau of prohibition is one of the largest single tasks ever undertaken by the commission.

Finger prints will be made of all applicants who attain eligible ratings. These will be used to check the accuracy of the applicant's statements as to arrest, indictment, or conviction for crime or misdemeanor. The civil service commission feels that any person who is worthy of appointment to a position under the bureau of prohibition will not object to the most searching investigation into his past life.

The act bringing these positions into the competitive classified service provides that those now employed who were not appointed in accordance with the civil service law must compete with others in examinations if they wish to have an opportunity to retain their positions.

Copies of the examination announcements and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the post office in any city. The examination announcements give detailed information regarding the scope of the examinations and the requirements for entrance thereto.

Wants Her Experience to Help Every Sufferer

Savannah Woman Suffering From a Bad Case of Stomach Trouble, Fainting Spells, Nervousness, Recovers Health. Gains 80 Pounds. Thanks Tanlac

"I am always at your command to do anything within my power to make known what Tanlac has done for me so that it will help the thousands who are suffering as I did for so many years," says Mrs. Margaret A. Turner, a charming widow of 1317 W. Broad St., Savannah, Ga. "I was a wreck when I began taking Tanlac. No one will ever know how I suffered from nervousness, how one of the worst cases of stomach trouble you could imagine caused me hours of pain.

"I sought relief for 15 years. I was getting worse all of the time and I reached the point where I could not eat anything without it making me deathly ill. Hundreds of times I faded into the realm of unconsciousness because of the pressure on my heart caused by gas forming in my stomach and bloating me. Due to stomach trouble and anemia I lost six babies, in infancy.

"Where everything else had failed this marvelous Tanlac succeeded. It relieved my stomach trouble, soothed my nerves and for the first time in many years I was able to sleep soundly, get up refreshed and enjoy my food. Since I began taking Tanlac, 10 years ago, I have gained 80 pounds. I have grown stronger until I believe that there are few women of my age in better physical condition."

Benefit by Mrs. Turner's amazing experience. Let this wonderful tonic relieve your suffering, restore strength and good health. It helps rebuild run-down bodies, drive out poisons that clog the system. Results after first bottle will surprise you. Get Tanlac from your druggist. More than 40 million bottles sold.

Reversal of Socrates' Doom Asked

The death sentence passed against Socrates in Athens in 399 B. C. has been appealed to the Supreme court of Greece. The famous philosopher's case has been undertaken by M. Socrates was forced to drink a cup of poisonous hemlock as a result of his conviction.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

PETER'S DENIAL AND REPENTANCE

Lesson Text—Mark 14:53, 54, 66-71; Luke 22:61, 62.

As our lesson opens, we have a glimpse of Jesus being led away to the high priest, with whom were assembled all the chief priests and elders and scribes. In the background of the picture following "afar off" (v. 54) is one of the chief disciples, the very one who had made the most pronounced declaration of his loyalty. It is Peter.

Into the palace of the high priest he goes, and we see him sitting with the servants warming himself at the fire. It is dangerous business for a Christian to try to get warm at the devil's fire.

No man could be loyal to Christ in such an atmosphere, and be so peaceful as Peter. As one has said: "Had he been loyal, he would have been as popular with those folks as a castor oil bottle in a children's hospital." The warmer he got, the colder he got (spiritually).

Why cannot we profit by Peter's experience? The old colored fellow in Alabama was not far wrong when he said in prayer meeting: "These breddren dat ta'ks about de devil runnin' after 'em makes me tired. Dere's so many of 'em hangin' on de devil's coattails, he aint got time to chase nobody."

Like Peter, many another Christian has been attracted by the devil's warm fire, and gone into a place where he knew he would not have a testimony. As a result, he lost it altogether.

Peter heard the false charges against Jesus without a protest. Peter saw them spit on Him and buffet Him and challenge Him.

When Henry Martyn was in Persia, translating the Bible, a startling question was put to him by the native student he had engaged to write for him. They had come to the account of the officers striking Jesus with the palms of their hands. The boy stopped writing and exclaimed: "Sir, did not their hands dry up?"

Peter was there, and knew something of what his Lord was passing through. What an instance of human infirmity that the one who had been with the Master on the Transfiguration Mount and in Gethsemane could, because his feelings were hurt, become so hardened as not only to behold such proceedings without protest, but to flatly disown his Lord when asked by a little maid if he knew the prisoner.

Behold what spiritual advantages men may have—what fair appearances they may make in the church—and what depths to which they may fall through self-confidence and injured feelings! Let it be a lesson to the most eminent Christian that "it is not in man that walketh to direct his own steps."

Remember the rock on which Peter made shipwreck. When warned by the Master of his approaching temptation, he boldly replied, "Although all men shall be offended, yet will not I" (v. 29). When we see self-confidence and presumption in a Christian, it is not a promising sign.

The very fact that Jesus had warned him should have kept him from the place of danger. Self-confidence drove him on. When surrounded with swords and staves he could swing a wicked sword himself, but when it came to facing hostile opinion and suffering persecution for Christ, it was another matter.

If ever an unassisted mortal might have been expected to stand by his own will power, it was Peter, the rock man. How many of us have likewise been betrayed by ignorance of our hearts! If we would avoid having our names recorded as was Peter's for an everlasting memorial of human weakness and frailty, we must learn to turn our rash vows into prayers for divine strength.

We flatter ourselves too much on our firmness of character. What reason have we for so doing? Many have fallen into sin's depths from the very heights of self-confidence. The Master knows us better than we know ourselves. Had Peter reflected more on his Lord's declaration—"Without me ye can do nothing"—boasting would have given place to humble dependence upon Jesus, and he would have won a great victory.

"She looked upon him and said, And thou also wast with Jesus of Nazareth." He denied saying, "I know not, neither understand I what thou sayest" (vs. 67, 68). When one false step has been taken, it is not so easy to recover yourself. His boasted courage all oozed out at the prick of a little girl's tongue.

How subtly the devil gets in his wedge! One sin leads easily to another. We go on rather than back up. Look out for the exhilaration of the down-hill slide.

"And a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them. And he denied it again." He was on the toboggan. To the bottom he would go. A third time he is accused. "He began to curse and to swear, saying, I know not this man" (vs. 69-71).

An old fisherman's habit had been resurrected. For many a day he had not sworn. In his time he had no doubt been a good cursor—this headlong man of temper. Yet there was method in his madness. He wanted to prove he was none of Christ's. What will reveal that quicker than cursing and swearing? It is a strong testimony for Christ that unbelievers expect cleanness of speech from His followers.

"The cock crew." Luke's account (22:61, 62) adds that "the Lord turned and looked upon Peter." What sorrow there must have been in those eyes! What conviction it must have brought to the heart of Peter! Yet that look from Jesus and that crowing of the cock undid Satan. "Peter went out and wept bitterly" (Luke 22:62).

Mark's account says (v. 72) "when he thought thereon." Peter thinks! Sooner or later we will all have to think. How much better to do it before we have gone to the bottom! We need meditation more than information.

Let us not overlook the fact that Peter wept. His tears were the real expression of the shame that wrung his heart. They were the proof of his salvation. The true child of God when in sin will not always have dry eyes. Sooner or later, he will catch the look in Jesus' eyes; he will hear the voice of the Spirit within and tears of repentance will flow. Go back now and read what Jesus had said to Peter before all this happened (Luke 22:31, 32). He had been upheld by a divine intercessor.

If Peter's crime was great, we should remember it was not premeditated, nor was it of long continuance. Sudden temptation unhinged his mind and threw him into confusion. As soon as he recovered the power of reflection, he bathed his soul in tears of repentance. He made a quick comeback. God pity the man whose stubborn heart refuses to be touched by the look of Christ, and who goes on until, like David, under chastisement his very bones wax old within him (Psa. 32).

Clement notes that whenever Peter heard a rooster crow at night, he would be moved to tears and prayer. We need not be ashamed of such tears. We should be more ashamed of having so few. It is not well with us when our sense of sin is so dull that we know not the moisture of repentance.

Golden Text Illustration

"Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."—1Cor. 10:12.

It is said that a circus attendant tried to lead an elephant across a small bridge. After placing one foot upon the bridge, the elephant backed up and refused to go over. The man knew that the elephant's instinct had informed him that the bridge would not hold him up. Some strong timbers were inserted beneath, and the animal proceeded across without a pause. Are we possessed of enough sense to keep us off of the devil's bridges? Only by living in communion with Christ can we have such spiritual intuitions. Those who think they can safely cross any bridge without Christ are certain to have a crash. Mr. Spurgeon said, "No one can safely eat at the devil's mess table though the spoon be ever so long."

Pith and Point

Nothing locks the lips like a life that is out of fellowship with Christ.

The dust on your Bible reveals the rust on your soul.

The high cost of living is nothing compared to the high cost of sinning.

Backsliding has begun when you begin to compare yourself with others to their detriment.

Some of the most earnest workers for God are those who have made mistakes enough to make them humble.

No one ever backslid on his knees.

It is good to learn of your own weakness if it drives you to lean on Him for strength.

Going back usually begins with looking back.

If you would master temptation, let Christ master you.

Suggestive Questions

What is the first result of the backsliding of a child of God? (Eph. 4:30).

If the Holy Spirit is grieved, what is bound to follow? (Psa. 32:3,4; 1 Cor. 11:32).

Can a Christian who is out of fellowship with Christ have any real joy? (Psa. 51:3, 4, 12).

If backsliding is persisted in, what may be the result? (Cor. 11:30).

What happened not many days after Peter shed his tears of repentance? (Mark 16:7; comp. Luke 24:34).

Having denied Jesus three times, by what three steps did Peter come back into fellowship? (John 21:15-17).

What was it that kept Peter from falling to the same depth to which Judas fell? (Luke 22:32).

Does this intercession extend to those of our day who accept Christ? (Jn. 17: 20; Rom. 8:34).

TWO SIDES

Secretary Hoover says the railroads are now in fine condition, supplying "completely adequate services." He thinks this "vindicates private ownership."

"It shows, at least, that private ownership is working well, as it well may when government guarantees railroad owners good earnings, including interest on their mistakes and much water. Private ownership of railroads is going to stay as long as prosperity stays—everybody knows that. If things become very bad, of course, railroads would say to the government, 'Please take us.'"

It should not be overlooked, and Secretary Hoover knows it, that the United States Post Office also gives "completely adequate service," and is NOT under private ownership: Mr. Hoover couldn't imagine any private enterprise carrying a letter from the southern tip of Florida to the northern end of Alaska for two cents.

There is no need for alarm in Osceola county about county division at this time, because if any of the bills that may be presented asking for division are passed by the legislature, they will have to be voted on by the property owners in the new county that is proposed, and this will mean the carrying out of real democratic system of government, and if the majority want to divide a county, there is nothing else left to do. Politicians and office seekers ask for payment to help divide counties and they fail most often. In the division asked for by St. Cloud business people there is to be no unnecessary expense, only the legitimate traveling expense of any delegation that may be sent to Tallahassee to give committees the information they should have. We don't care whether they divide the county or not. We want a better government by the commissioners.

THE WIDOW'S MITE

While the Red Cross committee was raising the St. Cloud quota Monday, one widow lady in St. Cloud did not have any money to give but had a good home-made quilt, worth $5.00, which she readily gave. She also found that she had two dresses and give one of those. If all the city had given as did this one widow, our quota could have been made many times greater and would have been met promptly.

Osceola county this week is discussing and cussing the many county division propositions that have come up in the past few days. Kenansville folks want a new county with that city as the seat of government, and St. Cloud folks are talking about another line of division to make that city the county seat, while Kissimmee is hard-boiled against all such propositions.

The Legislature has passed Governor Martin's Everglades drainage bills and this will mean the greatest influx of new farmers within the next ten years that the state has ever enjoyed. Allowing for time for the new drainage and irrigation program to get started, this state is slated for another big growth in a few years.

Representative C. W. Burns says that if Osceola county folks don't stop fighting his open season fish laws he will not put through any local laws that any town in the county or the county itself asks for. He sure is representing the county that sent him to Tallahassee. (?)

Men's golf suits made of plain black cloth are now quite the newest and most popular apparel. No doubt a badge of mourning for the golf widows who sit at home over the week-end.

Taking the national census in 1930 is going to be a more difficult job than ever before. What with thirty million automobiles in the U. S., the pedestrians can not stand still long enough to be counted.

America's tennis hopes for 1927 hinge on Bill Tilden's knee, say sporting authorities. From pictures of Bill we must admit it's a "slim" chance.

Some men don't know when they are licked and others get so used to it that they don't mind. Take the big-assist, for instance.

It is easier for a rich man to get on the board of trustees of a church than it is for him to enter the Kingdom of Heaven.

MOORE MAKES STATEMENT

St. Cloud, Florida
April 27, 1927

Editor St. Cloud Tribune,
St. Cloud, Florida
Dear Sir:

It has come to my knowledge that a wrong impression seems to have been created in the minds of some people regarding my trip to Tallahassee last week, with reference to the "county division" proposition.

My reason for going to Tallahassee was to use my influence in stopping any movement for the division of the county making St. Cloud the county seat, for it is my opinion that this would be a very unwise movement at this time.

In reference to the Kenansville proposition, I wish to state that I am neither for nor against such a division.

T. G. MOORE

GOVERNOR SMITH IN REPLY ON CHURCH

To Governor Smith, of New York, probable Democratic candidate for 1928 and a Roman Catholic, Charles Marshall addressed long questions which come to this: "If you were elected President would you be governed by the laws of the United States or by orders from Rome?"

Governor Smith answered ably in several thousand words. Thirty-one words of his answer constitute a complete answer, as follows:

"I recognize no power in the institution of my church to interfere with the operation of the Constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the laws of the land."

The Governor's letter is a great document that may eventually be marked historic. In its force and simplicity it is a worthy effort. Nor is it fair to read it as the letter of a candidate for the Presidency. In writing it the Governor kimself put that consideration to one side and wrote rather as an American in public life the consistency of whose whole career has been challenged by the open suggestion that he cannot be at the same time a good Roman Catholic and a public servant faithful to the Constitution and laws of the United States.

UNIFIED KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania urges the governors of 48 states to join him in a "power trust war." All the states are being gouged alike, he charges, by a gigantic, unified, nationwide electric monopoly that is forming with lightning swiftness."

It is true that the tendency of the times is toward unification in business; in farm marketing, in banking, in steel-making, in utilities control, in electricity, in funeral. Unified knowledge and progress is infinitely better than diversified ignorance and disaster. In transportation, automobiles, gasoline, electricity and the telephone, for instance, America has been given the lowest rates on earth. On its knowledge and experience, the once trust-busting I. C. C. favors many of the combinations, mergers and agreements that it was created to destroy. Everywhere the tendency develops into fact; everywhere it results in better service at lower cost. The present age of mergers is only the shadow of the unification that progress will demand.

The lamp of experience is not an infallible adviser; but it is illuminative. Electricity and insurance are among the few items of expense in American life that have gone down in price below pre-war levels. Demand and supply still operate in electricity as in every other field of business. But invention, co-operation, and the certainty of an enormously-growing public patronage that takes away the speculative risk in utility investments, has constantly lowered prices—comparatively, literally, from every point of view. Viewed by what it has done, combinations and consolidations have made possible American industrial progress, wages and standards of living.

MODERN RAILROAD DEVELOPMENT

The governors of three states—Idaho, Oregon and Washington—are interested in the proposed railroad down the Snake River from Huntington, Oregon, to Lewiston, Idaho. It would add a number of miles to the present transcontinental route over the Blue Mountains; but in favor of this added length would be the elimination of the 3,000-foot climb for every train run over the present route. The 130-mile line would cost almost $100,000 a mile.

Forty years ago, the O.-W. R. & N. Company figured on this water grade; it was rejected because of its greater length, and the belief that the tremendous box canyon of the Snake would be beyond their utmost possible purse. Today, however, it seems feasible; the money could be had for this expensive line if it would reduce operating costs. Everywhere grades are being eliminated, and the savings in operation pay for the investment.

Railroads live on their operating profits. If costs are too high to meet competition, or to haul freight at a price the buyer can pay, there is no operating profit, and the road goes broke. Where a reduction in grade can save the buying of engine coal and its expensive hauling where pay freight ought to be hauled instead, cuts in elevation compel themselves. This Snake River detour is one of the outstanding railroad grade cuttings possible in the whole United States. It may be expected as a railroad economy, and not as state politics.

Farm fire loss in the United States

If men were as perfect as their wives expect them to be there would be very little excitement in this world.

Nobody takes advice, but evidently everybody thinks it fun to give it away.

BILLY SUNDAY AFTER MONEY MORE THAN SOUL SAVING

DUNEDIN, Fla., April 22. — "I wouldn't trade one county in Colorado for the whole state of Florida" said the Reverend William A. Sunday, broadcasting from Denver, according to the Rocky Mountain News of April 8th.

While conducting his six weeks services in Tampa recently, the famous evangelist pointed to a yellow jacket —"See that fellow" said Sunday. He's a tourist. Do you think you can keep him away from Florida? No sir! Well, you cannot keep the human bees away from Florida either. Sunshine and flowers, balmy breezes, tropical moonlight and a place to forget snow, ice and the horror of winter. God has truly smiled on Florida and her sun, instead of setting, is just climbing towards the zenith."

In between the Colorado statement and his praise of Florida occurred just one event which might or might not have influenced a man of Mr. Sunday's tendencies.

For his six weeks work in Tampa he received the sum of $7,022.84.

Tampa met all of Mr. Sunday's stipulations. These comprised the payment of all expenses incurred by him and his party including room and board and other living expenses, railroad and traveling expenses of the entire party from Mobile where he last woked, payment of all salaries of the entire staff and as a personal gift to the evangelist in remuneration of his labors, the entire proceeds from the collection of the last day of his appearance. The expenses, by the way, amounted to some $14,000 in addition to the $5,000 involved in building the tabernacle.

Mr. Sunday's stipulations were met, as has been said, but evidently, not his expectations.

In other cities according to newspaper reports, Mr. Sunday has received the following sums:

Memphis, $52,000; Trenton, $32,000; Paterson, $25,000; New York, $120,000; Richmond, $32,000; Columbus, $30,939; Scranton, $22,189; Louisville, $21,000; Atlanta, $20,000; Syracuse, $23,112.27; Philadelphia $51,137; Pittsburgh $46,000; Chicago $50,000; Wilkesbarre $22,398; Buffalo $42,294; Boston $50,000; Detroit $46,097; Baltimore $32,500; Kansas City $32,000.

He has also been the recipient of many valuable presents, such as costly motor cars.

It is evident that, to the obviously disgruntled evangelist, a mere $1,170.47 per week plus all the expenses including food and lodging, is far below his idea of what he should get for doing the Lord's work and the stingy Tampans who "held out" on the greatest exponent of slang since George Ade's Fables first appeared are going to suffer for it if Mr. Sunday has his way.

It may be that the splendid body of men who constitute Tampa's ministry would be glad to be paid at the same rate as Mr. Sunday for rendering to the community a service in which good deeds are far more prominent than their words.

But, then, the resident minister of the gospel who lives with his flock and works with them day in and day out, good times and bad, will never command the pay of a vaudeville actor. Perhaps if they were less interested in the fruits of their work and more concerned with the financial return, they, too, might become itinerant contortionists and mountebanks in the effort "to get in on the big money."

To some the Almighty means more than the almighty dollar.

FLORIDA BOYS LOSING OPPORTUNITY

Only fifty per cent of the Florida boys who can spend a month in camp without cost, with other southern boys at Ft. Screven and Ft. Barrancas have applied for admission to the Citizens' Military Training Camps. These young men are losing a great opportunity to attend these national and other kinds of recreation are emphasized and every opportunity for improving physical health given under the supervision of experts, according to Major R. C. Riley, State Civilian Aide for Florida, who says:

"In the past Florida has always been the first state in the United States to fill its quota for the Citizens' Military Training Camps. Florida young men have always taken a very large share of the honors, and are anxious to attend these camps if they only knew how to apply. The state must maintain its reputation and position in this line of work in the south and the only reason for Florida's apparent backwardness this year is due to the lack of organization among our citizens; consequently every interested person is urged to notify any worthy young man between the ages of 17 and 24 years who might benefit by this opportunity to spend thirty days in the great outdoors under proper leadership, at government expense.

Clean young men from the back country and our representative high school men are eligible. Ministers, educators and influential citizens of the state who have watched the work for the past six years, endorse it most heartily.

Further information and application blanks may be secured from Major R. C. Riley, State Aide for Florida, Gainesville, Florida.

Taylor county is among the latest to take up dairying upon a large scale and one of the new dairys has purchasehased over three hundred acres of land for pasture and buildings for an up to date dairy. West Florida in time will become one of the greatest dairy farming sections of the southeast.

TRAINOR-DEMMON

Miss Alice Louise Trainor became the bride of Bert Lee Demmon at a pretty wedding in their new home on South Minnesota Avenue on Wednesday evening April 27th, at 8:30.

The house was attractively decorated with palms, ferns, and native flowers. At the appointed time, to the strains of Lohgren's "Bridal Chorus" played by a four piece orchestra, the bride entered wearing a white satin gown with a bouquet of orange blossoms, attended by Mrs. R. M. Kelley of Bartow, who was attractive in yellow georgette.

The groom wore the conventional black and was attended by R. M. Kelley, his nephew.

The marriage ceremony was impressively spoken by Dr. Ivor G. Hyndman, D. D., pastor of the Methodist church, who used the full (ring) ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dora Trainor, who came to St. Cloud from Adrian, Michigan, about four years ago. She is a registered nurse, possessing many qualities that endear her to her friends.

The groom, son of the late Comrade O. J. Demmon, is one of St. Cloud's progressive young business men of sterling worth, being owner of the Sanitary Barber Shop and affiliated with higher orders of the Masonic fraternity.

The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts, one of which was a souvenir wedding booklet, gift of Dr. Hyndman. After the ceremony the guests had an opportunity of writing in this book their congratulations which will serve as permanent reminders of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Demmon will be at home to their many friends after May 1st in St. Cloud.

After congratulations had been received a buffet supper was served. The guests were as follows: Mrs. O. J. Demmon, Mrs. Dora Trainor, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kelley of Bartow, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Demmon, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Gillette, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hettinger, Mrs. Geo. Barber, Harry Hettinger, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Paxton, Mrs. Bertha Mann, Chas Lincoln, A. D. Peacock and Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Coleman.

INSURANCE SYNONYMOUS WITH CIVILIZATION

Two hundred years ago insurance was classed as gambling in France and forbidden by law as contrary to public morals.

Today, insurance marks the difference between the helpless savage and civilized society. Insurance reflects the degree of civilization attained by humanity.

The managers of insurance companies which are responsible for the people's savings and stand as the basis of all credit, have tremendous social responsibility.

Insurance can be provided against almost any risk involving property or accident. Modern business could not be carried on without this safeguard.

According to press dispatches the three Florida exposition trains now touring the north are receiving much praise and many compliments and are entertaining big crowds where ever they appear. These expositions of Florida's fruits and vegetables and allied industries will do much toward sending crowds of new visitors to Florida next winter.

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE IS DOING

TALLAHASSEE, April 27, 1927—Following adjournment of the legislature, the politicians will then direct their attention to political affairs and consequently there will be many discussions relative to the delegate to the national democratic convention. From past experiences it is known that a delegation completely tied by hide bound instructions must sit like knots on a log and oft times follow a foloru hope.

It was a humiliating experience during the Madison Square Garden convention to find the members of the Florida delegation afraid to move one way or another because they had been instructed without restriction to support a certain candidate.

Other states are careful to send their ablest leaders to national conventions, while Florida, while sending a few, has had a mixture which did not give the state any great influence before the convention. It would mean much to Florida if we could have men in the national convention like Governor John W. Martin, Colonel Peter O. Knight, Senator D. U. Fletcher, Arthur T. Williams, Wallace F. Stovall, Frank Harris, R. W. Davis, John P. Stokes, Fons A. Hathaway, Charles D. Parkhill, Ben Lindsay, Telfair Stockton, Frank D. Fleming, Frank C. Groves, Judge Amos Lewis, and scores of others that could be named. In this day of woman suffrage, it might be well to select a couple of leading and influential women, such as Ruth Bryan Owen, Mrs. W. S. Jennings, Mrs. Willis N. Ball, and many others that could be named who would do honor to the state and to the party in the wisdom they would show in the selection of a presidential nominee.

The democracy of this nation can elect a president in 1928, or it can again prove that Thomas Nast, the greatest cartoonist the world has ever known, knew what he was doing when he pictured the jackass as the emblem of the democratic party. Florida can make no mistakes by sending its best men and women unhampered by instructions.

In a few days it is promised that things will work fast and furious in the Florida legislature. The large number of local bills will have been disposed of and general legislation will be given attention. The anti-evolution bill may die on the calendar because the effort to bring it up out of the regular order completely failed. The theory advanced in the origin of species is not the cause of the greater objections, but the text books are complained of mostly. If there is any remedy for the latter, it appears to me to be through the state board of control. We are living in a new age and while thousands prefer old time methods and old time religion, the tendency is towards thorough dissection of everything, scientific and otherwise. The masterpieces of art which would have shocked our mothers and grandmothers are now accepts for art's sake, and the beauty therein eclipses the evil thoughts. The modern girl who wears her dresses a little more than knee high, if rebuked will remind you of the bustles and hoop skirts and also of the low necked dresses of colonial days. If the flapper be rebuked for cigarette smoking, she will remind you of the days when aristocracy dipped snuff for cleansing the teeth instead of pepsodent and of the mothers contented and happy who smoked their peaceful pipes of clay. Evolution or anti-evolution is settled in the individual mind and when reason sits upon the throne, nothing can compel it. The world ever moves in a circle. The advancing years find new and to many of us strange conditions. We are either moving forward or backward. I believe in the acceptance of many new theories but am willing to accord to others their inherent rights. Many things they know not and neither do I. We are not expected to know. The finite was never intended to comprehend the infinite.

The press as a rule accepts the advanced ideas. I may or I may not be an old foggy. I believe largely in the old fashioned methods but I do not really know. I do not believe the laws can legislate morals into a people but I do believe that many temptations are removed through statutory regulation.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

"SYSONBY"

Sysonby is to be placed in a room in the Museum of Natural History in New York City.

To the average American the name means nothing.

It might be that of a cigar, a confection, a play or a new author.

In fact it is the name of one of the greatest race horses America has produced, and the skeleton will be placed in a new room devoted to horses and their development as an example of a great race horse.

Nothing drops out of sight quicker than a race horse that has quit winning races, unless it is a man who accomplishes something and then stops.

The applause and interest lasts as long as the accomplishments go on.

When they stop, people turn to something else.

Placid old age is usually the least interesting period of life to outsiders. This is because it is a time of reminiscence, of going over and over accomplishments of the past rather than of achieving new victories.

A little over thirty years ago the locomotive Number 999 was familiar to everyone. It was the fastest engine then known and had made a speed of over one hundred miles an hour.

A few years ago, before it was placed on exhibition, it was almost entirely forgotten, used to haul a milk train up and down the rails where it had once been king.

Other bigger and stronger engines had come and its past performance had sunk out of sight.

Napoleon said: "My power would fall did I not support it with new achievements. Conquest has made me what I am and conquest must sustain me."

A little cynicism in regard to applause is a healthy thing.

The less a person thinks about a past achievement the more other people are liable to think about it.

"As a horse when he has run," said Marcus Aurelius, "a dog when he has tracked the game, a bee when it has made the honey, so a man when he has done a good act, does not call out for others to come and see, but goes on to another act, as a vine goes on to produce again the grapes in season."

Washington announces we have now recovered from the war—but fails to mention what we have recovered

The officers of Benevolent Rebekah lodge were very pleasantly entertained last Thursday evening at the home of the Noble Grand Sister Ethel B. Reid on Ohio avenue.

LIVINGSTON CLUB PICNIC

The Livingston Club of the Methodist church gave an enjoyable picnic at the Steen park on the lake front in the beautiful oak grove west of the city. The occasion was a farewell to the president of the club, Mrs. Alfred Heim, and a welcome for the pastor, Dr. Ivor G. Hyndman, who returns to St. Cloud for another year's work.

This was one of the good old fashioned basket picnics, which consisted of good food and a good social time generally. After supper was finished, everyone retired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heim on North Florida Avenue where the good time was continued.

Those who were in attendance to show their regard for Mrs. Heim, in her untiring efforts in helping to make the club of such valuable assistance in the church activities for the past year, and to express gratitude for the return of Dr. Hyndman to this pastorate for another year were:

FLASHES OF FLORIDA FACTS

By MOSES FOLSOM

Eggs

The Florida State Marketing Bureau has given out figures showing the price on white eggs in the Jacksonville wholesale trade for the year 1921 to 1926 inclusive. The average for 1921 was 48.1 dozen; 1922 was 40.6 dozen; 1923 was 42.8 dozen; 1924 was 44.4 dozen; 1925 was 48.3 dozen; 1926 was 45.9 dozen. The average price for six years was 45.01 dozen. What the state needs is a law to enable buyers to know just what they are buying fresh or storage eggs.

Anti-Dumping Law

A bill introduced by Congressman Hare of South Carolina passed the last congress. The bill provides that after June 30, 1927, any person, firm, association or corporation receiving fruits, vegetables, melons, dairy or poultry products, or any perishable farm products in interstate commerce on behalf of another who without good cause shall destroy or abandon or dump any produce, or who shall with intent to defraud make any false report to the party from whom the produce was received regarding the handling, quality, quantity, sale and disposition thereof, or who shall with intent to defraud fail accurately to account therefor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of $100 to $3,000 and imprisonment for one year. Florida being a large shipper of perishables is interested in such a law. Under present conditions it is possible for an unscrupulous dealer to receive a shipment and make any sort of a report.

Official Bird of Florida

The legislature on April 6 by joint resolution declared the mocking bird to be the official bird of Florida.

Organization

E. R. Thomas of Miami Beach in a very practical statement concerning the present unfortunate condition of agriculture, says that the problems of farming are not than of production, but of marketing. Manufacturers as a rule succeed because they are organized and understand distribution, but farmers are disposed to go it alone and too often fail. The problem is how can the farmers be organized and by co-operation control the sale of their own products.

Naval Stores

Scientific measures of conservation and reforestation in the pine-growing areas of this country must be adopted if the American naval stores industry is to maintain its present position, according to a trade bulletin just issued by the United States department of commerce. France, the report points out, affords a splendid example of the successful working out of the principles of reforestation in connection with its pine lands.

Georgia and Florida, the report shows, now produce about three quarters of the naval stores in the United States. The Carolinas which a half century ago accounted for about 90 per cent of the total production now furnish a meager 2 per cent. As long as the forest reserve were apparently inexhaustible there was little thought of reforestation, with the result that there are vast areas of cutover lands in the South that are non-productive. If our important industry, in which thousands of persons are employed is to be continued practical steps must be taken to reforest and conserve.

Prison Population

The report of the prison bureau of the department of agriculture at Tallahassee puts the numbers of prisoners at Raiford at 1922. During the 1926 a total of 994 persons was sent up. This included 477 white men, 7 white women, 583 negro men and 27 negro women. Dade county lead in number of convicts, 157, Duval was second with 137, Palm Beach third with 87 and Hillsboro fourth with 77. Grand larceny lead with 141 convicts and murder was second with 106. In total the whites numbered 462 and negroes 532. A majority of the convicts was between 18 and 25 years of age.

Hearing and Seeing.

The time has come when folks can see as well as hear what is sent by phone or radio. The first public exhibition was on April 7, when men in Washington and New York talked with each other and could see each other by phone. This new wonder is known as "television." Think of connecting up in Jacksonville and seeing a baseball game in New York or a riot or fire in Chicago. Folks in California, Florida and Maine and all the way between, can watch the inauguration of a president in Washington. Baseball games will be broadcasted and one can watch a horse race on the track in Havana, Cuba. Operas will be sent out into the air, and Florida folks will see and hear the singers in New York. Important debates in congress can be heard with plain view of the statesman engaged, or one see the water come down at Niagara and hear it roar. We are living in a great age and each new wonder is taken as matter of right.

Florida Daily Papers

On January 1, 1927, Florida had twenty-four morning and thirty-five afternoon papers, a total of 59 with a combined circulation of 44,713, or a paper for every 2.29 inhabitants. The state was twelfth from the head of the list, and a little above the United States average. No other state south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers ranked as high. North Carolina had 39; West Virginia, 36; Virginia, 26; Georgia 25; Alabama, 23; Tennessee, 21; Maryland, South Carolina and Mississippi, 15 each; and Kentucky and Louisiana, 14 each.

Thomas Jefferson once said that if he had to have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, he would take the newspapers, because through them he felt that the state could be run with at least fair success.

Insurance Record

State Treasurer J. C. Luning, who is also state insurance commissioner, says that Floridians during 1927 spent for various forms of insurance an average of more than $1,000,000 a week, about $55,000,000 in all, twice as much as they expended and invested through the state treasurer's office during the last fiscal year in all operating expenses of the state government, the support of its institutions of higher learning, its hospital, courts, prison and correctional institutions, its gigantic good roads program and the reclamation of the Everglades.

Net premiums received by fire insurance companies in Florida during 1926 amounted to approximately $20,000,000 while losses incurred aggregated $24,000,000.

TUNG NUTS IN FLORIDA

Alachua county in the near future bids fair to supply the entire United States with tung oil, the sole source of which formerly was in China.

Few persons in the country know that tung oil is pressed from the tung nut and that it is an important raw material used in the manufacture of paints and varnishes.

Still fewer persons are aware that 20 years of experimenting has proved that tung nuts can not be grown profitably in California and that the only spot in the United States today which has the soil and climate combined with moderately priced land suitable to tung nut production is central Florida.

With approximately 100,000 tung nut trees in the vicinity of Gainesville scheduled to begin bearing in the fall of 1928 the first tung oil press in the United States will be set up in that city within the next 18 months by the American Tung Oil corporation.

The price of tung oil has doubled in the last sixty days, according to B. F. Williamson, president of the American company, and the product is now bringing 28 cents a pound.

The fact that the American paint and varnish industry uses $20,000,000 worth of tung oil annually assures the success of this newest of Florida industries.

Without a doubt the state of Florida offers the world a more diversified line of opportunities and advantages than any other similar body of land within the civilized domain of man.

If that seems over enthusiastic perhaps we may be excused when it is learned that we have spent two year now studying Florida, investigating her possibilities, testing her advantages and watching the realization of Florida dreams and almost every day we have learned some new advantage which she alone enjoys.

Every state has its strong points and its weaknesses, its advantages and disadvantages, but we sincerely believe that Florida today offers more actual and potential advantages to its citizens than any other state or province on our richly endowed continent.—Palm Beach Times

CHICAGO FIRM PENALIZES FLORIDIANS

JACKSONVILLE, April 18 — The Florida State Chamber of Commerce in its weekly bulletin, calls attention to a letter written by the president of a Chicago firm which penalizes Floridians simply because they live in Florida. The State Chamber's weekly bulletin says: "The attention of the business public is called to excerpts from a letter written by the president of the North Western Expanded Metal Company, 407 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, to T. J. Howe, of St. Petersburg. Mr. Howe is one of St. Petersburg's wealthiest and most progressive business men. The president of the Chicago concern says:
"Owing to the severe setback which Florida has passed through and the very unsettled state of affairs in most sections of Florida today, also due to the fact that we suffered very severely in the way of losses during the last year or two, we would prefer to have all transactions for the sale of our materials in Florida, held to a cash basis, at least, until normalcy is again established.
"We dislike exceedingly to assume this attitude because it may hurt some of our very good friends, but under existing conditions we do not see any other way out of it, and to be frank, we haven't the spare capital to finance any outside propositions.
"As I have stated before, I hope this will not seem at all offensive. It may be that credit with you would be perfectly safe and without any risk whatsoever, but having established this rule covering Florida shipments, we do not feel that we can make exceptions and that we should treat all alike in that territory."
As is evident, the Chicago concern declines to make any distinction between credit standings of Florida individuals and corporations, but prefers to penalize them all alike, simply by reason of the fact they are residents of Florida.

PRACTISING WHAT THEY DON'T PREACH

Rioting and murderous clashes between Moslem and Hindi fanatics in Calcutta remind one of the oft-repeated assertion that religious wars are the deadliest and most brutal of all. Not necessarily, but these kinds of fights impress the public mind more than other kinds, because participated in by a class of people from whom, naturally and in point of consistency, one least expects hostility toward fellow men.

Indians Had the Orpheus Legend

Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, chief of the bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, is shown holding a unique piece of prehistoric Indian pottery which was found near Mesa Verde, Colo, and which is estimated to be over 1,500 years old. The decoration on the inside base of the bowl tells a story similar to the Orpheus legend of Greek mythology. According to Doctor Fewkes, this decoration has been unknown hitherto in Indian pottery.

Osceola Farmer Blair Carries On When Late Florida Boom Bursted

This is the story of Osceola County and how one man left stranded by the real estate boom put his holdings under the plow, and has scored one of the most remarkable successes in the history of the state. Agriculture in Osceola County is coming into its own. The home folks as well as the outsiders, are rapidly developing large areas of agricultural land. Osceola County produces citrus fruit and it is also a cattle country. It has nearly 50,000 head on the range in the Kissimmee Valley.

BY DUDLEY V. HADDOCK,
Special Representative of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce

When the boom of 1925 bursted thousands of real estate operators failed to stand the gaff and left the state. Others took off their coats and went to work. C. A. Blair of Kissimmee, not only took off his coat but went those who had decided to stick it out one better by shedding his coat, tie and collar and rolling up his shirt sleeves.
Blair's experience is one of the most remarkable instances of its kind in Florida, for he stands to make a small fortune on truck crops this season, ignorant though he was of the business when he went in to it. The production of truck is a specialty and the farmer who has not served an apprenticeship in the business usually makes a failure upon his first attempt. When the boom collapsed and left him with an island of thirty acres in Lake Tohopekaliga, opposite Kissimmee, Blair knew no more about trucking than a babe knows about steaks. He had been developing an island subdivision. The bump left him with thirty acres and no lot purchasers and with no indication of any during the next two or three years.

Untrained But Triumph

Blair's island possessed excellent truck soil and he determined to cultivate it. Friends, aware of his ignorance of truck farming, predicted failure and urged him to let it alone, but he could not be dissuaded. He put down beans, peppers, eggplant, potatoes and tomatoes, and this is what happened:
When the cold spell came in January and killed truck crops over the greater part of the state, Blair's farms were at an excellent stand. The freeze had no effect upon them, for the island was in the lake and the water kept the temperature above the freezing point. The result was that Blair possessed, after the freeze, one of the few bean crops in the state and he literally coined money from them. He cleaned up on Irish potatoes, also, but struck a snag when the first of the crop was harvested because his island produced them some time before new potatoes were supposed to be produced and no one would buy them.
People in Kissimmee say it is doubtful if Blair ever engages in the real estate business again. Alone because his experience has proved there is more profit in truck farming. He is cited by his neighbors as one real estate developer converted into a farmer by the bursting of the boom.

Rapid Development

Blair's island and additional property on the lake shore is typical of the soil in a large portion of Osceola County. The county has an area of 847,840 acres of which 75,000 acres is in farms but only 5,000 in actual cultivation. With drainage, at least ninety per cent of its area would be tillable. Kissimmee business men have just begun to realize the possibilities for truck production and several groups have organized syndicates to take over various areas and employ practical truckers to operate them. This movement, coupled with a steady influx of newcomers, accounts for a steady increase in the acreage under cultivation.
In addition to its truck crops and the opportunity for this specialized branch of agriculture, Osceola produces approximately 330,000 boxes of citrus fruit annually. It also is a cattle country, nearly 50,000 head of cattle being on the ranges in the Kissimmee valley south-east of Kissimmee.
The lakes and the Kissimmee River, which forms the western boundary of Osceola, are partly responsible for the Everglades problem. The Kissimmee flows into Okeechobee, carrying to the lake the huge volume of water which originates in its watershed, and it is this water which Okeechobee distributes over the Everglades. In ancient times, say Kissimmee people, there was no everglades problem because the Kissimmee flowed into the Atlantic between Fort Pierce and Stuart. It is claimed that the old bed of the river still is visible through the country north and east of Lake Okeechobee.

Fish Crowd the Rivers

One thing in connection with the Kissimmee is certain—it teems with big mouth bass and the fish are so numerous in the streams and the chain of lakes which forms the river in Osceola that they almost get in the way of one another. The United States Bureau of Fisheries years ago determined that Okeechobee produces the largest big mouth bass found in North America, and to hear the fishermen in Kissimmee discuss it one gains the impression that these are only minnows from the river. Kissimmee, in proportion to population, probably possesses more fresh water fishermen than any other city in Florida. If one doubts this assertion he has only to go there to call upon one of its citizens on business. The man called upon usually has gone fishing.
Osceola's industrial activities are confined almost entirely to the production of lumber and naval stores, the eastern portion of the county possessing vast areas of merchantable timber which is being cut by sawmills.
Osceola has a bonded debt of $2,525,000 of which $2,000,000 was contracted for only last year for highways. Previously the bonded debt was only $525,000 of which $144,000 was for schools.

San Francisco Chronicle—One suspects that Mr. Borah lost faith in Santa Claus at the age of two.

Basketball's Dad

Dr. James Naismith of Lawrence, Kansas, who conceived the now popular sport of basketball, is opposed to new dribble rule allowing only one bounce.

CURRENT TOPICS REVIEW

Unsettled Affairs

Affairs in China remain unsettled. Intermittent fighting between the Cantonese and the Northern forces continues without decisive victories being won by either side. Reports have it that American destroyers have been fired on by the Chinese on several different occasions and that several American residents have been killed.
The reply of the Cantonese Government to President Coolidge's letter regarding the Nanking affair has been stated as not satisfactory. The British are urging joint action of the British and American forces. They desire the support of the United States in the British sanctions, which would involve the taking possession by force of designated Chinese territory, seating up ports, etc. It is reported that President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg oppose the idea and are in favor of a policy of conciliation.

Candidates

The press is devoting a good deal of space to discussions on the prospects of different candidates for the Presidency in the 1928 campaign. President Coolidge has not stated his intentions in regard to the matter. Some are of the opinion that the "third term taboo" would be a hindrance; others state that since this would be only his second election such an issue would not be involved. Much interest was manifested by the public in the open letter in The Atlantic Monthly, asking Governor Smith to state his views on the Roman Catholic Church and the State. He replied to the effect that he would not let Church matters interfere with State affairs, nor did he think the time would come in the United States when he would have to choose between them. Former Secretary William McAdoo visited Washington recently. There was some speculation as to whether he came for political reasons, but he stated that it was strictly a business trip and politics were not involved.

Alien Visitors

That visiting aliens who may become applicants for admission as immigrants are required to await admission outside the United States under the quota restrictions is the interpretation placed by Secretary Kellogg upon the immigration laws and regulations, and which was upheld by Justice Siddons in the Circuit Division of the District of Columbia Court.
The decision affects thousands of visiting aliens who get in by reason of provisions in treaties with foreign countries, relative to the admission of artists, actresses, educators, commercial representatives of foreign firms and all other aliens who remain here sometimes indefinitely, though legally. The decision was interpreted as meaning that they no longer have this privilege.
Representative Black, of Texas, stated on April 14, that he would give his support to the proposed amendment to the Immigration Act to extend the quota restrictions to Mexico. He said in this connection that it is manifest that if we throw down the immigration bars, for purposes of admitting cheap labor to work on large farms and ranches and bring into cultivation more lands, we multiply the difficulties of dealing with our surplus farm products.

Farm Relief

It is indicated that farm relief will be an issue in the next session of Congress. SenatorMcNary, of Oregon, in a recent visit to President Coolidge told him that he was making some new studies of the subject, giving special study to the bills that had been introduced in Congress at the last session. With these measures as a foundation he hoped he could work out something that would be helpful. The President informed the Senator that he would like very much to have him make a study of this kind. Several other parties are making a study of the question with the object in mind of eliminating the objectionable features of those measures that have been introduced. Senator Fess, of Ohio, in a discussion with the Secretary of Agriculture said that he had taken up the question with Senator Capper, of Kansas, and other members of the Senate, emphasizing the unlikelihood of enactment of a law containing the so-called equalization fee.

Schoolhouses in Alaska

The Bureau of Education of the United States is shipping to Alaska on the Steamer "Boxer" from Seattle three complete rural schoolhouses with living quarters for the teachers. The buildings are ready to set up immediately on arrival in our big northwestern territory.
They are destined for use of the Government schools for the Eskimo children. The shipment includes complete furnishings and blackboards and crayons so that nothing will be lacking to open typical American schools for the wards in that territory.

Lynchings

A marked decrease in lynchings was reported by the Federal Council of Churches, New York City. Thirty persons were lynched in 1926, which is 13 more than in 1925, and 14 more than in 1924, according to this report. It also stated, "The total number of states free of lynching in 1926 was 28, which was the same total as in 1925 and in 1924, and one less than the total number without any lynchings in 1923."

How Easter Is Celebrated in Honolulu

Easter service on Round-Top, an old crater located in Honolulu, is always an interesting event. The spot is hundreds of feet above the main city, and each Easter morn thousands gather to celebrate mass at sunrise. The woman on the right is leading the crowd in song. The large white cross stands for days, and at night it is illuminated.

AMERICAN LEGION

Appeal

Last summer when South Florida was visited with a great calamity, consisting of storm and flood, followed by grave danger of anarchy, pestilence and violence, the Legion posts of the affected areas were to be found in the front rank. They saved lives, prevented violence, distributed aid, salvaged property and recovered the bodies of the dead. During this trying time the Legion from all over the country in response to the appeal from Florida, poured financial aid unstintedly to the tireless workers on the front line. Their generous help enabled the Florida posts to relieve hundreds of cases of distress and destitution.

Now, in time of another great disaster, the Legion again must do its part. Adjutant Crawford has received a wire from the state adjutant, Howard Rewton, "Again we hear in time of disaster the Legion. The Legion of the states in flood area need assistance and the national commander has appealed to our department to do our bit and remember Florida never fails. Make all efforts possible to make cash donations and get same to me quick. Howard Rewton."

Now, buddies, and all else who wish to help the people in the Mississippi flood area, dig deep and hand your donations to Comrade Crawford, or to Commander Byrnes in the post office. Let's remember that the times may be hard, they are harder when folks have been flooded out of their homes, have lost their all, and are in dire need of the actual necessities of life. Let's go.

Ball Grounds

A faithful few reported to the ball grounds last Thursday, and a few more who were unable to be there in person paid others to do their stint for them. The biggest day's work yet accomplished resulted. Crawford is leaving his tractor there, but will be unable to be with us this Thursday. We need a chauffeur for the thing. How about a half dozen or a dozen turning out and making another big dent in the job? Remember, we are pledged to finish this project before we start another.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day plans are progressing. The several service organizations met last night and a report of their labors will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Carrie Walters has been confined to her home with a cold.

On last Friday afternoon our town had another sad accident. Tom Smith, one of the electricians of Holopaw, was killed while working on the wires. All that doctors and nurses could do failed to revive him. Mr. Smith was a native Georgian but had been with the company here some time.

The office force moved into their beautiful new building on Tuesday. It stands on the old site where the other was destroyed by fire three weeks ago.

If you've ever eat at Holopaw you know how the good cooks feed. At two o'clock Rev. C. Fred Blackburn, our presiding elder, held quarterly conference, then preaching for us. It was a wonderful day to every one.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

There was a good attendance at both Sunday school and morning worship last Sunday morning. In the absence of the pastor at the annual conference, the sermon was preached by Dr. May Puckett-Foster, taking as her theme "The Value of A Soul". Dr. Foster in her usually interesting manner, drove home to her hearers the supreme value of the spiritual. Illustrations from modern industrial and domestic life served to make the subject interesting as well as inspiring.

The Rev. L. L. Lockard had general charge of the service.

There was no evening service.

The young people of the Epworth League motored to Kissimmee to attend the District Roll of the P. S. C. E. They report a splendid time of inspiration.

The ladies of the church are now the proud possessors of a magnificent new white china set. Each piece bears a dainty monogram M. E. C. set in a circle. The ladies of the Unity Circle first sponsored the purchase and immediately received the hearty co-operation of the Senior Circle and the Livingston Woman's Club.

The summer schedule for evening service will go into effect next Sunday, May 1st. The Epworth League will meet at 7 p. m. and preaching service will begin at 8 p. m.

The offical board will meet on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Hyndman was the preacher at First Presbyterian Church at Daytona Beach, Fla., on Sunday evening.

At the recent session of the St. Johns River Conference at Daytona Beach, Bishop Hughes appointed the Rev. Dr. Hyndman, pastor of the local church to preach the missionary sermon at the annual conference, to be held at Jacksonville next year.
